POWELL FELLOWSHIP

Teaching for Humanity:

Powell Holocaust Summer Institute

August 5—9, 2019

At the Henry and Sandra Friedman Holocaust Center for Humanity, Seattle

The Holocaust Center for Humanity offers an intensive 5-day summer institute designed for teachers of grades 6-12.

In a collaborative environment, Powell Fellows will:

- Explore in-depth topics of the Holocaust, genocide, and human rights
- Gain practical tools to bring these lessons effectively to their students
- Identify and use materials that align with Common Core State Standards
- Integrate local stories into their lessons
- Hear from national scholars, local experts, and experienced educators
- Take part in field trips to areas of interest
- Become part of a dynamic and motivated group of Powell Fellows

Accommodations will be provided. | Seminar is limited to 20 participants. | 40 Clock Hours

Details and to apply:

www.HolocaustCenterSeattle.org

Participants will explore topics related to Holocaust history, including antisemitism, rescue and resistance, genocide, non-Jewish victims of the Holocaust, Japanese Internment, current events, and local connections. Each day will focus on selected themes and will include reference and discussion of today's world and practical applications for the classroom. Teachers will spend time working together in small groups to develop and prepare lessons for their classrooms.

Participants who complete the program will become the fourth cohort of Powell Fellows and will have the opportunity to participate in advanced professional development opportunities throughout the year.

Requirements:

- Eligible teachers will currently be teaching grades 6-12 in a classroom.
- In the year following the seminar, Powell Fellows will be responsible for incorporating at least one local Holocaust story into their lessons or curriculum
- Fellows will be responsible for communicating with the Holocaust Center on a regular basis.

Participation Fee—$100 due upon acceptance to the program. ($50 will be returned upon attendance.)

Application Deadline: April 20, 2019.
